U. S. AND JAPAN'S TRADE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30, Trade relations with Japan have figured prominently in the talk about the school incident at San Francisco and its possible consequences. Nearly all of it however, has pictured the loss that would come to this country through the loss of Japan's trade. While it is true that the closing of that market would lose to American business men a customer buying many million dollars' worth of goods annually, loss of the American market would more greatly embarrasa Japan.

During 1905 Japan bought from this country goods to the value of $51,719,683. The largest items were manufactures of cottom cloth, flour and other breadstuffs, muchinery, locomotives, leather, oil and Japan has, proportionately, a much larger business at stake. The imports from that country in 1005 were $51,821,629. This is a much larger proportion of the total exports from Japan than the total of goods sent to Japan of the total exports from this country. The United States exports in 1905 amounted to $1,518,561,666. The chief imports from Japan in 1905 were raw silk, manufactures of silk, tea, matting and earthen, stone and chinaware. During the 12 months ended last June, the imports from Japan amounted to $52,551,520 and the exports to that country were $38,464,952. During the same period the total exports from the United States amounted to $1,743,864,500.

FADS OF QUEENS.

Most celebrities have health food fads, says an exchange. Queen Alexandra's beautiful complexion is attributed to her simple and careful diet. Her Majesty's fad is stewed fruit, which is served in a variety of ways. Her favorrite dish for breakfast is raisins cooked with apple sauce, and she also has a reat liking for fritters. Queen Wilhelmina has a fondness for all kinds Withelmina has a fondness for all kinds of milk puddings, and for anything made with cream. She also likes chocolate, and keeps at chef whose main duty it is to prepare good wholesome chocolate dishes for the immense household at Amsterdam and the Hague. The Queen of Portugal, who suffers from nervous exhaustion, lives chiefly on hot bread. Madame Sarah Bernhardt attributes her youthful appearance to taking large quantities of what is known as "clabbered" milk, prescribed for her by a German doctor. It is really nour milk, and is caten with surar and sour milk, and is caten with sugar and

HONGKONG CLUB TOURNAMENT.

Entries for the Hongkong Cricket Club tournaments' close with the secretary on Theatre for the current year are very April 1-this is not a hoax-and a start poor, but it is hoped that an improvement will be made with the games on April 3. The competitions are open to mombers of the Club only and are :- Championship cap; and Professional Pairs.

> No mention is made by the Club of promoting an open championship; it surely cannot be that the possibility of the Club's champion being defeated by an "outsider" is the cause for its omission?

The V. R. C. Sports.

Entries for the Victoria Recreation Club's Annual Athletic Sports will close with the honorary secretary (Mr F. Lammert) on Wednesday next at noon. The change has been made on account of the postponement of the sports to April 13. The International Team race promises to be a very interesting event. Already six teams are spoken of, viz., English, Scotch, Welsh, Portuguese, Irish and Australian. The Scotch team is said to be a rattling one and will give the others a good men for it, while the Portuguese At a place named Fan Yue, in the above quartette is a strong one. Until the names of the runners are received, however, it is impossible to weigh the chances of the teams. For this event post entries will be taken, but entries should, if possible, be sent to the honorary secretary in time to be included in the programme.

BY WHARF AND WAVE.

The captain and officers of the new Austrian Lloyd steamer "Vorwaerts" and the local agents (Messrs Sander Weiler, and Company) were "At Home" on board the steamer on Thursday afternoon. A large number of invitations had been sent out and the Company's launches were fully engaged taking visitors to the ship and bringing them ashore again. After an inwe have previously printed about the steamer, "Success to the Vorwagets" was drunk. Captain Colledani met the visitors body seemed pleased with the appearance of the steamer, which should be a favourite one for travellers.

The Secretary of the Hartlepool Shipowners' Society made the following remarks last month :- " According to the latest published Returns it would appear that, converting sail into steam tons, by dividing it by three, in 1895 59 per cent of merchant trading vessels were British avagainst 41 per cent. foreign. In 1904 only per cent. were British, and 47 per cent foreign. In the intervening nine years the whole British tonnage had a ne increase of 21 per cent., but foreign tonnage had increased 69 per steam tonnage had while increased 44 per cent. foreign steam tormage had increased per cent. The most remarkable change. egislated our sailing ships out of existence, this class of British shipping having decreased no less than 31 per cent., whilst the immunity of foreign shipping from such logislation and harassment is seen in the fact that foreign sailing tonnage had meanwhile only decreased 3 per cent. result of course is partly accounted for h sales to foreign nations, of both steam and sailing British yessels, but none the less if demands serious consideration."

OUR SCOTTISH LETTER.

(From Our Correspondent.)

EDASSIBOR, February 23. A hitherto unknown letter of Carlyle of female emancipation was published this week. It is addressed to an Edinburgh student, is dated 1871, and was written "on the strict condition that whatever say shall be private, and nothing get into newspaper." The lapse of time has made this prohibition of no effect, and now we read what he thought of a topic which "fo five-and-twenty years past, especially for the last three or four, has been a mere sorrow for me; one of the most afflicting proofs of the miserable anarchy that prevails in human society." In his opinion, he says "The true destiny of a woman, is to wed a man she can love and esteem; and to lead can find open to her in the world. Among these employments he includes medicine, and he is of opinion that any woman." who deliberately so determines has a right to study medicine;" but that for obvious reasons, "Female students of medicine ought to have, if possible, female teachers, or also an extremely select kind Kensington or some other justitution of men; and in particular that to have young women present among young men in anatomical classes, clinical lectures, or generally studying medicine in concert; is

A scheme is being matured for a train ferry service between the Wigton coast and the North of Ireland. So far as conatructional questions are concerned, there is no difficulty, as already many such ferries exist in Europe and America. The economic prospects are not unfavourable. Travellers to and from Iroland do not like the present system, especially on the night journey, and it is believed they would give large support to the new method.

The publishing season has not produced any work of an outstanding character, so far, as Scotland is concerned. There is renewal of the rumour that the Duke of Argyll intends to publish an autobiography. This may or may not be true; some well informed persons nod their heads in confirmation: and of course we remember the old proverb, "There's aye some water where the stirkie drowns." An autobio graphy from his pen would undoubtedly be

The publication of a family history of the "Balfours of Pilrig." does not at first sight appear to be of importance to other than local renders. Lake some books of the same kind, however, amid "fine consaid of the sheep's head), there remain some passenges which are interesting to a wider world than Scotland. At one part, for instance, it brings us into close touch with Robert Louis Stevenson. W are introduced to the James Ballour who disputed with David Hume upon questions of othics, but who is best known to fame through the pages of "Catriona." It will be remembered that David Balfour went to this kineman when he was in search of advice after his return from the adventures described in "Kidnapped." This Laird of Pilrig, carefully drawn by Stevenson from authentic documents, was the grandfather of the Rev. The spring exhibition of paintings in the Royal Scottish Academy is only of an average character. This is a criticism which must be passed upon it upon most occasions. The reason is not far to seek. London attracts all the young men o merit, because there they find a wider fame than is possible in their own country. None of the elder members of the Academy have this year produced works of distinction, and the younger school is lessin ovid ence. The President, Sir James Guthrie, however, has done some excellent portraits, and that notwithstanding a serious illness. Mr Charles H. Mackie, A.R.S.A., has also "astonished the Browns," to use an old Bohemian phrase. For years he has been experimenting, and while he has always received credit for his efforts after individual expression it is only now that he has come forward with a really great work, only :-which he calls "The Return to the woman, miss Sheepfold." His novitiate was a long one, renounced it, but to-day he shows that he is a master of she has every right before God and men to the craft. GOVERNOR AND VICEROY

(F. om a Correspondent.) CANTON, March 27.

A few days ago the Governor of Kwang sai, Cheung Ming Ki, sent a despatch t the Viceroy, which is interesting reading if it is correct. The Governor complains that there are arrears of pay, owing to his soldiers for the last thirty years, and he asks that these arrears be at once forwarded to him, that he may pay up all that is owing to the men under his command He points out that there is a great deal o unrest throughout the Province, and that freebooters are everywhere lurking, and may at any time break out in open rebel-
